Admiral Farquhar's Cruise

Rear Admiral Farquhar, commandant of the North Atlantic squadron, had a talk with Secretary Long Monday concerning a winter's cruise of the squadron to West Indian waters. The admira' favored such a cruise, pointing out that the plan had been inaugurated two years ago with good results. Mr. Long approved the plan and arrangements were made for the issuance of formal orders later. No time has been fixed for the start to the West Indies, but it will probably be made early in the new year.

Police Sergeant McNeely Accused of Soliciting a Bribe.

KEEPS APPOINTMENT TO GET MONEY

Alleges That He is Victim of a Conspiracy.

SUSPENDED AND ARRESTED

Samuel A. McNeely, a police sergeant who has recently done duty under Lieut. Kelly in the sixth precinct, was placed under arrest late vesterday afternoon on a charge of accepting a bribe. At the same time he was suspended from the force and was directed to surrender his equipments. He was unable to comply at once with the latter order, for he was then at police headquarters and his revolver, club, badge and other equipments had been left at the sixth precinct station, which place, it is thought, he visited only a short time before he called on Major Sylvester. This is the arrest that the police expected to make in an alleged bribery investigation that had been started, as was published in yesterday's Star. Sergeant McNeely's arrest is not due to geant Duvall, also detailed as inspector. These officers were sent out to follow up charges which had been made by Attorney W. Calvin Chase and William H. Lee, as stated yesterday, and although they were within reaching distance of the sergeant a few seconds after they saw him accept the few seconds after they saw him accept the alleged bribe they let him get away.

When William H. Lee, the colored keeper of a pool room and shooting gallery, reported to Mr. Chase, his counsel, that a bribe had been asked of him by the police, the latter insisted that his client should do something to expose the alleged bribers. Lee stated that East Capitol and 11th streets was the place selected by the officer for him to meet him, at 3 o'clock yesterday or him to meet him, at 3 o'clock yesterday

Inspector Pearson and Sergt. Duvall were on hand before the appointed hour, and McNeely was there on time. Lee was a little late, but the sergeant awaited his arrival. The men met almost directly in front of the Chinese laundry near the inon of * assichusetts avenue with 11th street. After spending a short time in If th street. After spending a short time in conversation Lee handed over an envelope, he did not seem in a hurry to put in his pocket. The two officers who were watching had been standing at the East Capitol street corner of the little frame building watching the proceedings. Their position was such a conspleuous one that a number of persons stopped and watched them, curious to know what was going to happen. While Sergt. McNeely and Lee were still conversing, Inspector Pearson and Sergt. Duvail left their place of hiding and walked to the front of the Chinese laundry. Mencely did not see them until they reached him. When Inspector Pearson addressed him, saying. "I want you." the sergeant stepped tack from the curbstone as though he intended to cross IIth street in the direction of Lincoin Park. Instead of turning to run, he backed clear across the street, with his hand in his pocket, giving the impression that he was going to draw his revolver. He said: the impression that he was going to draw his revolver. He said:

'Don't touch me!" and "Don't put your In this way the inspector and the serin this way the inspector and the ser-geant crossed lith street, and, although the time consumed was short, a number of people gathered to witness the proceedings. "Lookout," shouted one bystander, "he's going to shoot."

The officers acted as if they believed he The officers acted as if they believed he would use his revolver and soon gave up the pursuit. Sergt. McNeely kept looking around to see if he was being pursued until he reached a vacant lot near 12th street, when he ceased turning and ran as fast as he could. Inspector Pearson and Sergeant Duvall, who had given up the chase, returned to police neadquarters, and Major Sylvester and Inspector Boardman then Sylvester and Inspector Boardman then learned of the incident which had amused the spectators gathered on 11th street.

Lee Steps Aside.

When William H. Lee saw Inspector Pearson and Sergeant Duvall approach Sergt. McNeely and himself he withdrew and gave the officers every opportunity to make the arrest. He expressed surprise that the officers had permitted the sergeant that the officers had permitted the sergeant to run away. When a Star reporter met him just after the affair was over he said he could hardly realize that the two officers had let the one man escape. Speaking of the circumstances leading up to yesterday's event, he told of the raid that was made on his place of business Saturday night, the 18th of this month. He said he was standing in his place when an officer was standing in his place when an officer approached him and said: "You are under arrest." He told the officer that he had done noth ing. The house he then learned was surrounded and the policemen entered and made a thorough search for liquor. He told them he had not been in the liquor business for two years. They found only four bottles of beer, he said, in the room of one of the lodgers.

Five different members of the police Five different members of the police force, he declares, approached him and wanted money. The money they told him, according to his story, was to get him out of his trouble, and a so to protect him.

When the raid was made, he said, Mc-Neely told him it would cost him $1,000 to get out of the trouble. One of the men whom he says made a demand for $200 told him that McNeely was angry with him, and would push him, as he (McNeely) had been told that he had talked about him. More than one of them, he said, told him not to tell Attorney Chase about the affair. not to tell Attorney Chase about the affair. Last Saturday, continued Lee, Sergt. Mcreely called on him and said he wanted to see him about the neighborhood of 3d and E streets on business. He says he walked around on 3d street and then it was that McNeely made him the offer to clear him and give him police protection.

Warns Lee Against the Others.

"These people are trying to do you," Lee says he was told by the sergeant. "They 3 can't reach me. I'm not in this business 15 for the love of it, but for what money there is in it and I'm not a cheap man. Deal direct with me and I'll guarantee you will not be bothered."

Lee says that Sergt. McNeely told him Lieut. Kelly was a mere figurehead, so far as the precinct work is concerned, and that Sergts. Cross and Byrnes were not to be feared. The sergeant, Lee said, told him that he (McNeely) was running the precinci, and that in less than two years he would be licutenant. When Lee said he could not raise $200, but could raise $150 by Monday, the sergeant agreed, Lee says to meet him at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the place designated. As soon as he had turned over the envelope, he alleges, Sergi. McNeely told him to claim he was sick tomorrow morning and fail to appear in court. He added, Lee says, that he should say nothing to his counsel or anybody else. Just then the conversation was ended by the appearance of the officers who had been sent out by Maj. Sylvester. About 4 o'clock Maj. Sylvester received a message over wire that Sergt. McNeely was on his way to headquarters, and half an hour later the latter arrived. Maj. Sylvester received him in his office and held short conversation with him.

Alleges a Conspiracy. The sergeant's claim was that he was the victim of a conspiracy, and he declared he was innocent of any wrong-doing. He was soon turned over to Inspector Boardman. He was then notified that he was under arrest, having been previously told that he was suspended. One of the stenographers in was suspended. One of the stenographers in the department took his statement in the presence of Capt. Austin. The latter asked the officer several questions. In his statement Sergt. McNeely repeated the story of his innocence and claimed that Lee was to have given him a list of places where the law was being violated.

After the street scene. After the street scene was enacted he said he did not know what the envelope contained, and that he tore it in two and threw it away. When he was searched, however, two marked $5-bills, said to have been in the envelope, were found on him.

AMUSEMENTS.

KERNAN'S LYCEUM THEATER.-Whether a circus performance or a vau-deville entertainment, the Irwin Brothers can be depended upon to make good. Such experienced caterers to public taste always piease, and this season's company that opened at Kernan's last night is better than opened at Kernan's last night is better than the one of last year. Billy Bailauf, the erstwhile popular treasurer of Kernan's, is the manager of the company, and his arrangement of the program and handling of the burlesques reflect great credit upon his managerial ability. At both performances yesterday good audiences were on hand, and it is predicted the business for the week will be the best of the season. the week will be the best of the season. The olio opened with an acrobatic turn by Bailey & Madison. Many new tricks were exploited. Kessner & Reid mixed the nuses and were acceptable. Carver & Pol-ard were the only ones of the program deserving adverse criticism, and their contri bution had better be eliminated. The best feature of the program was the work of Annie Carter, who presented, with Barry Thompson, a laughable sketch, mond & Bernard were entertaining in a first-class character specialty. "A Hot Wave" is the name of the burlesque, in which the entire company participated. It is from the pen of the versatile Ballauf, and there have been worse ones.

BIJOU THEATER.-The entertainment provided by the management of the Bijou this week is pleasing to a majority of the pairons of the house, and after all that is the only basis for a criticism. A fair olio succeeds a very cleverly conceived bur-lesque on the "Prisoner of Zenda," under the title of "A Prisoner of Sunday." Al-though only a short preparation was possible, the several members of the stock company who contributed were good. Miss Allie Danish as Antoinette, the pet of the Allie Danish as Antoinette, the pet of the Tenderloin, scored the hit of the burlesque. With a face of striking beauty and evidences of ability well marked, she promises much. Sam J. Adams in a dual role did well, but Sam always does. In the ollo, Maxwell & Dudley easily sing themselves into favor. Miss Flossie Sinnott danced and sang with pleasing effect, and McCloud & Melville won favor from the start. Charlie Aldrich does a tramp turn of interest, and Campbell & Caulfield contribute a Celtic character turn of ability. Cushman, Holcomb and Curtis closed the bill with a first-class sketch. oill with a first-class sketch

THE DE PACHMANN RECITAL .- Tomorrow afternoon at the Columbia Theater at 4:15 o'clock the great Russian pianist. Vladimir De Pachmann, will give his first recital in this city. The sale of seats has been most satisfactory, and the great pian ist is already assured of a royal welcome here. De Pachmann is a planist that does not force tone to obtain striking contrast, but makes his effects by exquisite graduations of tone, all of which are within the natural cheme of color. And, indeed, he is such a master of color that you are first inclined to overlook the fact that he is also a most cunning draughtsman and, furthermore, such is the extreme quality of his fingers, so highly developed in his technic, that in the astounding case of his performance you often are slow to recognize the man's remarkable mastery of detail, and the in-finite pains taken by him to make each inch of gorgeous canvas contribute to over-whelming effect. The program will include Von Weber's Sonata, in A flat; six Schu-mann selections, Mendelssohn's Rondo Ca-priccioso and six Chopin numbers. These comprise the second Impremptu, in F sharp major, three preludes, three etudes, Mazurka, in B minor; Valse, in A flat, and the third Scherzo, in C sharp minor.

Y. M. C. A. LECTURES -The opening lecture of the Y. M. C. A. course will be given at the First Congregational Church Monday evening. December 4, at 8 o'clock. The lecturer of the evening will be Rev. Newell Dwight Hills, D. D., the noted young preacher who now occupies the pulpit formerly filled by Henry Ward Beecher and later by Lyman Abbett. and later by Lyman Abbott. Dr. Hillis gives his best lecture, "John Ruskins's Mes-sage to the Nineteenth Century," and it is expected a large and representative audience will gather to hear him.

MR. AND MRS. LENT'S RECITAL.-The will be given tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock at the Washington Club, 1710 I street. The concert will be a piano and violoncello recital by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lent. An attractive program has been arranged. It includes for the plane four ranged. It includes for the piano four pieces in one of Edward MacDowell's two selections from Chopin Liszt rhapsody. For the viosuites, oncello there will be numbers from Jules Massenet, Daniel van Goens, George Gol-termann, W. Fitzenhagen and Bach. For For piano and 'cello the selection will be from Grieg. In the rendition of the Goltermann and Fitzenhagen works for four violoncel-ics Mr. Lent will have the assistance of Paul Finckel, Alexander Mason and Miss

MISS PITTS' LECTURE.-The excellent lecture on "The Organization of the English Church," given last evening by Miss Eva M. Pitts at the Washington College of Law, fol-lewed two distinct lines—the separation of the Celtic from the Romish Church as a result of the decision of the council of Whitby, and, second, the great influence of the monasteries on the civilization of early England. The importance of the de-cision of the council of Whitby depended upon the fact that it gave to national development the unity and concerted action of the Roman Church as opposed to the clannish disruption and lack of co-opera tion of the Celtic, a change which reflected itself in all the after political life of Eng-land. With reference to the monasteries, the lecturer said that the service they had the fecturer said that the service the rendered in preserving and in fostering the spirit of culture, industry and of humanitarianism is incalculable. They were the homes in those unsettled times not alone of pious seclusion, but the centers of untiring effort in regard to all most vital to progress

Cornelius Vanderbilt Has Won Reputation as an Inventor.

PRINTERS AS FARMERS

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star

NEW YORK, November 27, 1899. Richard Croker will sail for Europe Tuesday. Before he goes he is expected to 'make up" with John C. Shechan. Having appropriated Sheehan's ideas as to Bryan, he tried to turn that gentleman down, he has nothing to do but "make up" or face a split in the wigwam. It is too big a thing to let a little personal unpleasantness spoil, and there will be a reconciliation, it is currently admitted.

Miss Helen Gould has given up almost every pleasure or recreation to devote her time to the crusade against the retention in Congress of Brigham H. Roberts. In accordance with requests of the firemer and policemen to Miss Gould after the Ho tel Windsor fire to call upon them at any time in any capacity in which they might aid her, they have received their call. And they have responded with spontaniety. Miss Gould wrote to the heads of both departments asking that the men lend their influence in spreading the anti-Mormon petitions among voters. She received encouraging letters in reply, and also from the adjutant of the Association of Spanish War Veterans. Four members of Congress from Kansas have written to her that they are against the polygramous Roberts as have against the polygamous Roberts, as have several other congressmen whose names Miss Gould delicately withholis, and a mayor of one of the North Carolina cities. In that state, Tennessee and Michigan, according to the League for Social Service of this city, to whom Miss Gould refers all letter writers on this topic, there are more Mormon missionaries in active work than in any of the other states. Forty thousand names of voters so far have come in attached to the anti-Roberts petitions, New York state supplying the largest number.

Mr. Oliver Iselin's Plans.

It is announced definitely that Mr. and Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin will sail for England on December 6, and that they intend to spend several months abroad. There is every reason to believe, it has been learned on good authority, that Mr. Iselin's trip across the ocean is to arrange for the entry of the Columbia in the Mediterranear spring regatta. Mr. Iselin will not corroborate this report, however. It is said he will meet Sir Thomas Lipton in Europe, and that it is possible another race between the Columbia and Shamrock may be tween the Columbia and Shamrock may be arranged for. Crecence is given to this report because it has been learned that J. Pierpont Morgan will be in Europe during the winter, and will join the two yachtsmen at a conference. The Columbia will be kept at Hawkins ship yards until the owners reach some definite decision about future contests. The rigging and other racing paraphernalia have been stored near by, so that the racer can be put in shape for a foreign voyage at short notice. There is a general report among the yacht clubs along the northern shore of the sound There is a general report among the yaund clubs along the northern shore of the sound that the Deer Island sailors were informed before they left for home to be ready to report for duty at most any time during the winter.

Young Vanderbilt's Inventions.

Cornelius Vanderbilt has another inven tion. He will soon send the drawings to Washington and take out a patent. The dea is for a new kind of freight car for cerain special classes of freight. His asse cates in the office of the superintendent of motive power know only that much. The new cars, when "drilled" with the old ones. new cars, when "drilled" with the old ones, soon make matchwood of them, and the car builders are working over time to replace the old cars with modern ones. It is in this new field that the genius of young Vanderbilt is called into play. He himself admit that his talents do not run along the line of financial management, and that he much prefers to distinguish himself as a practi-cal railroad man. President Calloway, Mr. cal railroad man. Freshold Calloway, and.
Depew and Treasurer Rossiter, all friends of his father's, have watched the development of the son's character with delight.
His freight car design, when completed, will be his first patent. His new firebook, with which several of the company's new locomotives are being equipped is not really a patentable device. American Becomes a Countess. Very few of the four hundred who at tended the horse show were aware that for a few moments the Count and Countess von Vriedenberg of Vienna were there Few indeed recognized the countess, formerly Mrs. T. W. L. Annouetti, who was one of New York's most beautiful women. Her first husband was T. W. L. Annouetti who died about seven years ago, leaving her a large estate near Perth Amboy, and a mansion on 5th avenue, where they lived Immediately after her second marriage Countess von Vriedenberg went to Austria with her husband. They lived at Vrieden castle, the estate of the count. Love for her old home grew stronger by absence, and now she and the count are here to es-tablish a home. The count will erect a castle like the one in Austria, and the American home will, as far as possible, be like his place in his native country. This was one of the conditions of the marriage agreement—that the count should live part of his life in America and maintain there a permanent residence. It is generally understood that the count, who is wealthy, has settled a very large income countess-some estimate it to be over $250,000 a year.

Printers' Experiments in Farming.

Last spring a tract of land of 166 acres in New Jersey was leased by the land committee of Typographical Union No. 6, "Big Six," to give a home to those members of the organization who either were unemployed or too old to work at their trade. The chairman of the land committee came to live on the farm to give it his personal supervision. Soon fifty workers were on the farm, each with his little plot of ground newly planted and the chance to make out of it what he could. In less than two months it was gratifying to see the improvement of the "farm hands" since evement of the "farm hands" since had left Park Row and Chambers street. Men whe used to hang around, out of work, "dead broke," sick and almost helpless, were living comfortably in good health, with regular occupation, and assured the full fruits of their labors. A month ago, just when the summer crops were in full fruition, Professor E. B. Voorhees of the New Jersey state agricultural experiment station visited the farm. He said he had not seen anything to surpass the work of the printers anywhere in the state. This statement pleased the men, for few of the fifty men on the farm ever had handled a hoe before. This was explained to Professor Voorhees, and he was sur-prised still more. He explained that the printers excelled because they brought into printers excelled because they brought into the undertaking great intelligence, com-bined with energy, industry and persever-ance. Notwiths anding the severe droughts of the early summer, the present crops are more than double those of any other farmer in the vicinity. The prize patch of corn and potatoes was that "farmed" by Joe Connors and labeled "Slug 7." Next year more land will be acquired. year more land will be acquired.

the farmer printers will entertain many of
